

Kelly Whetstone

SINGLE ISSUE EMAIL READING

( This is an actual reading used by permission )

Friday, September 17, 2010

ISSUE

My name is P. and my ex boyfriend is L.

I have recently ended a 3 year relationship that was extremely toxic. My ex boyfriend was verbally and emotionally abusive and in retrospect I am sure that he was unfaithful from the beginning of the relationship. It really bothers me that I let it go on for 3 years and I don ' t know why. What is bothering me even more is that I can ' t stop thinking about him and I am starting to reason with myself that maybe it wasn ' t all that bad. I need your help. I am an intelligent person. I have a great career. I feel fairly in control of the rest of my life. Why is this so out of whack? You have my permission to do any healing work that is necessary.

Thank you

P.

READING

I am looking at your energetic body P., for information relating to this issue. The first thing I see is a huge, very old cord into your heart chakra. It looks like an ancient tree root and it branches off into your third and second chakras as well. This is far older than this lifetime.

The purpose of the relationship in this life time is to finally end this agreement. It appears that you allowed yourself to be devalued by him over the past three years so much so that a part of you began to believe it. My healing master is removing the cords. The cords were filled with manipulation and control. I hear him say to you that "You will be sorry and you will come crawling back ". My healing master is sending a cool blue healing energy through your heart, third and second chakras filling in where the cords were. Take your awareness there and you can feel the expansion in your body. Your whole energetic body just lightened up.

We bring every relationship into our lives and we teach everyone in our lives how to treat us. Know that you learned and grew from your relationship with L. You got the lesson this time it does not have to be repeated again.

Now it is time for closure. Forgive him for what he did and forgive yourself for allowing it. Write it all out then burn the paper and bury it in the earth or commit it to living waters to be transmuted.

Give yourself the love you want to receive in the right relationship, start setting that standard and raising your vibration to bring in the man that will cherish you.

You deserve no less.

Thank you for having me read for you. It was my blessing.

Love and Blessings

Kelly

<http://www.12Listen.com/index.cfm?advisor=114>